Mr. Wilcox is a native of Wyoming, graduating from Natrona County High School. During high school he participated on a state championship football and wrestling team. After high school he received a wrestling scholarship to Colorado Northwestern Community College in Rangley, Colorado and earned an Associates Degree in Business. While attending the school he was a two-time NLCAA wrestling champion.

Mr. Wilcox then attended the University of Wyoming and earned his Bachelor's Degree in Secondary Business Education. While attending school and after graduating, he taught at CMB Business School in Laramie, Wyoming.

In 1990, Mr. Wilcox began teaching at Mohave High School in Bullhead City. During his time at Mohave he taught business classes, was head wrestling coach and an assistant football coach. Then in 1992 he transferred to the new school down the river called River Valley High School, where he has been ever since. While at River Valley, he has earned a Masters Degree in Adult Education and an Administrators certificate. He was the head wrestling and softball coach and an assistant football coach. In 2008 he became the Vice Principal at River Valley and has enjoyed being in different a role in helping students and faculty at River Valley. At this time, Mr. Wilcox and another teacher are the last of the original Dust Devils that have been here since the doors opened.

Mr. Wilcox marred his lovely wife Maggie in 1978. They have two sons, which both graduated from River Valley, and now live in Las Vegas. He also has three grandchildren, which he spoils as much as possible. He cheers for three sports teams, the Denver Broncos, the Wyoming Cowboys and the River Valley Dust Devils.

“I have a job I look forward to going to everyday. We have a great family atmosphere at River Valley and that makes it a wonderful place to work. And lastly, all of you have a great Dust Devil day”.
